Non contrarii, ma diversi

The Question of the Jewish Minority in Early Modern Italy

This book brings together a number of contributions that throw a new light on the history of Jewish communities in late-medieval and early modern Italy (15th-18th centuries). The different, monographic approaches form a homogeneous interpretation of this history, a collective and original reflection on the question of Jewish minority in a broader (Christian) society. Both the Christian and the Jewish sides are taken into consideration, and an important number of chapters consider concrete situations, Jewish texts and authors very rarely studied in the research on Jewish-Christian relation.

Contributions of Jean Baumgarten, Marina Caffiero, Bernard Dov Cooperman, Serena Di Nepi, Cristiana Facchini, Alessandro Guetta, Rachele Jesurum, Joseph Levi, Davide Mano, Evelyne Oliel-Grausz, Asher Salah, Pierre Savy, Vincenzo Selli.

Alessandro Guetta is Professor of Jewish Thought at INALCO, Paris. He is the author of several books and articles on the intellectual history of the Italian Jews. Among his books: Italian Jewry in Early Modern Era. Essays in Intellectual History (Academic Studies Press, 2014) and Les Juifs d'Italie à la Renaissance (Albin Michel, 2017).

Pierre Savy is the Director of the Medieval Section of the École française de Rome. His research focuses on Italian society and politics and on Jewish-Christian relations in 14th-16th centuries. He is the editor of a Histoire des Juifs to be published by PUF in 2020.
